

What is Important in a Relationship?

Think about what makes a good relationship and what features your perfect partner would have.

If possible cut out the boxes to make cards. Arrange the cards into a triangle shape, placing the cards in order of how important they are. So the most important card will be at the top of the triangle.

You can add your own ideas too.

If you can't cut out the cards then you could mark them in different colours to show which features are:-

- Not important to me
- Quite important
- Deal breakers! - really, really important!!
